HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer: Demo Guide

An AI agent in SitecoreAI Agentic Studio that turns a press release into a ready-to-review News Story page on the HEINEKEN newsroom, checked against The HEINEKEN Company Brand Kit, on either the global site or a local market site.

This guide covers two demo scenarios, one per site. Each takes about 10 to 15 minutes, including questions from the audience.

1. The demo story

Newsroom teams turn press releases into web stories by hand: rewriting for the web, filling a dozen SEO and listing fields, and checking brand naming and responsible-alcohol rules. Global and local market teams do the same work on different sites.

The Story Writer does this in one conversation:

1. Reads the release (attached file, pasted text, URL or notes) and shows a fact sheet: every fact it will use, with its source in the release.
2. Asks a few multiple-choice questions: which site, missing facts, the image, and every statement that breaks a Brand Kit rule.
3. Drafts the whole page (headline, standfirst, summary, body, SEO and social fields), counts every character limit and runs a brand checklist.
4. Writes the page in Sitecore only after approval, reads it back to verify, and gives a link to open it in Page builder.

What to stress throughout:

Message	Where the audience sees it
No invented facts. Every fact, quote and figure comes from the release or the presenter's answers	The fact sheet cites a paragraph for each fact; missing information becomes a reported gap, never filler
Brand governance built in. The Brand Kit decides naming, tone, SEO limits and responsible-alcohol wording	Naming corrections in the fact sheet; one question per risky claim, quoting the claim and naming the rule
Human in control. Nothing is written before every answer and an explicit approval; nothing is ever published	The draft review with a tick-or-cross checklist; the closing line "Nothing was published."
Global and local, one agent. The same agent and rules serve the global newsroom and a local market newsroom	Scenario 1 goes to `heineken`, scenario 2 to `heineken-vietnam`

2. The kit

File	Use
`demo-guide.pdf`	This guide
`presenter-cheat-sheet.pdf`	One page to keep open during the demo: the answer to give at each question
`scenario-1-global-going-out-study.docx`	Scenario 1 input. A fictional HEINEKEN Cambodia press release written for this demo, with deliberate brand-rule traps. Never publish its page
`scenario-2-vietnam-water-programme.docx`	Scenario 2 input. HEINEKEN Vietnam's real press release of 8 September 2026 (water conservation programme with the Ministry of Agriculture and Environment and WWF-Viet Nam). Published in Vietnamese only; this English version was translated for the demo, with the two quotes as printed in English by Vietnam News on 9 September 2026

3. Before the demo

Do this at least 15 minutes before the audience joins.

#	Check	How
1	You can sign in to the partner SitecoreAI tenant and open Agentic Studio	Use the presenter account
2	The agent HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer exists	Agentic Studio → Agents
3	The agent has the skill HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer attached and Marketer MCP on	Open the agent → Tools & skills
4	The Brand Kit The HEINEKEN Company is published	Brand Kits
5	Both sites have a 2026 News Year page under `/newsroom`	Pages → site `heineken` → `newsroom/2026`; same for `heineken-vietnam`
6	No story from an earlier demo run is left under `/newsroom/2026` (see Reset)	Otherwise the agent asks whether to update it, which adds a question to the script
7	Both input files are on your desktop and open correctly in Word	Keep them closed during the demo
8	Do a full dry run of both scenarios, then reset	Same steps as the live demo

During the demo, keep two browser tabs open: Agentic → Chat and Pages (signed in to the same tenant).

4. How a run works

Every run follows the same steps. The agent asks one question per message, each with lettered options (A, B, C, D), and marks one option (Recommended) with a reason.

Step	What you see	What you do
Fact sheet	A table of facts with sources, a list of content it will not use (contacts, "About" sections, download links), naming corrections, and the flagged claims	Scroll through it slowly; this is the "no invented facts" moment
Site	"Which newsroom should this story go to?"	Pick the site named in the scenario
Missing facts	Only if the release lacks something (for example a date)	Pick the recommended option
Image	Whether to add an image	Choose no image: the sandbox media library holds only placeholder images, which the agent rejects on purpose
Flagged claims	One question per statement that breaks a Brand Kit rule, quoting it and naming the rule	Answer as the scenario says
Draft review	The whole page as a table (field, value, characters/limit, evidence) and the checklist with a tick or cross per line	Point out the counts and the checklist, then choose Write it
Report	Page name, path, version, every field with its evidence, gaps, and Open in Page builder	Click the link

General rules for answering:

- The letters can differ from this guide between runs: always answer by the meaning of the option, not the letter.
- When unsure, take the (Recommended) option.
- Type answers in the chat box as a single letter (`A`) or, where the guide says so, as your own sentence.
- Always start a scenario in a new chat. Never continue a previous conversation.

5. Scenario 1: Global newsroom

Story: HEINEKEN Cambodia publishes a study on how Cambodians go out. Cambodia has no site of its own, so the story belongs on the global newsroom. The release contains three statements a brand reviewer would stop.

Input: `scenario-1-global-going-out-study.docx` (fictional).

Run it

Step 1. Open Agentic → Chat, start a new chat and select HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer.

Step 2. Attach `scenario-1-global-going-out-study.docx` and type:

```
Write a news story from the attached press release.

Step 3. Walk through the fact sheet. Point out:

- Naming corrected by the Brand Kit: "Heineken Cambodia" → HEINEKEN Cambodia (the company), "Heineken 0.0" → Heineken® 0.0 (the product), "Praise The Bar" → Praise the Bar.
- Figures kept exactly as written, ranges included ("64% to 81%", "85% to 93%").
- The research note (about 1,500 adults, July to September 2026, sample results rather than population estimates) is kept, so the figures are not presented as national facts.
- Not used: "-ENDS-", the download link, the "About HEINEKEN Cambodia" section and the media contact.
- The Khmer quote is translated and labelled (translated from Khmer).

Step 4. Answer the questions:

Question	Answer	Talk track
Which newsroom?	`heineken`, the global site (Recommended)	"Cambodia has no local site, so the agent recommends the global newsroom. It always asks; it never decides the site alone."
Image	No image	"It never picks or generates an image on its own; it only uses an approved image the editor names."
"This proves that Cambodians cannot really enjoy a night out without a cold beer in their hand."	Leave it out (Recommended)	"Presents alcohol as necessary for enjoyment: a responsible-alcohol rule in the Brand Kit."
"Even younger students say they cannot wait until they are old enough to join them."	Leave it out (Recommended)	"Content that speaks to minors: never allowed."
Bopha Lim: "... the best investment a venue can make."	Keep it only as an attributed verbatim quote	"An unsourced superlative. Because a named person said it, the editor may keep it as her quote, word for word. Outside a quote it would go."

Step 5. Draft review: show the character counts (headline, summary, SEO title 50–60, SEO description 140–160) and the checklist. Point out that the training for 500 venue staff is written as a plan, not as done. Answer Write it.

Step 6. Report: show the field table and the gaps (no image), then click Open in Page builder (see Showing the result).

What good looks like

- A new page under `heineken` → `/newsroom/2026`, version 1.
- Subject Corporate (sometimes also Sustainability), article type Article, date 5 November 2026.

- SEO title ending in `| The HEINEKEN Company`.
- No trace of the two left-out sentences, and nothing added in their place.

6. Scenario 2: Local market (Vietnam)

Story: HEINEKEN Vietnam announces the second phase of its water conservation programme with the government and WWF. The same agent now writes for the local market newsroom, with that site's own settings, under the same brand rules.

Input: `scenario-2-vietnam-water-programme.docx` (real release, English translation).

Run it

Step 1. Start a new chat with HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer.

Step 2. Attach `scenario-2-vietnam-water-programme.docx` and type:

```
Write a news story from the attached press release.
```

Step 3. Walk through the fact sheet. Point out:

- The figures kept exactly: more than 2.2 billion litres a year, VND 70 billion over nine years (2022–2030), five breweries.
- Names and titles as given: Wietse Mutters, Managing Director of HEINEKEN Vietnam; Nguyen Do Anh Tuan, Director General of the Department of International Cooperation, Ministry of Agriculture and Environment.
- The 2030 goal stays an ambition; it is never written as achieved.

Step 4. Answer the questions:

Question	Answer	Talk track
Which newsroom?	`heineken-vietnam`, the local market site (Recommended)	"Issued by HEINEKEN Vietnam with a Da Nang dateline, so the agent recommends the Vietnam newsroom. It uses that site's own subjects and settings."
Image	No image	As in scenario 1
"HEINEKEN Vietnam realised this ambition in 2025..." (an ambition stated as achieved)	Choose the compliant rewording if it presents this as a result HEINEKEN Vietnam reported for 2025. Otherwise type: `Keep it, attributed to HEINEKEN Vietnam as a reported 2025 result.`	"The Brand Kit forbids stating ambitions as achieved. Here it is a real reported result, so the editor decides how to word it, and the agent follows."
"HEINEKEN Vietnam has pioneered..." (outside a quote)	Leave it out (Recommended)	"'Pioneer' is a claim without a source."
"... to pioneer and innovate ..." inside Mr Mutters' quote, if asked	Keep it as an attributed verbatim quote	"Inside a named person's quote it can stay, word for word."

The agent may ask about one or two other claims (for example the GDP and jobs figures in the closing paragraphs). Take the recommended option.

Step 5. Draft review: point out the SEO title ending in `| HEINEKEN Vietnam`, the counts and the checklist. Answer Write it.

Step 6. Report: click Open in Page builder.

What good looks like

A tested run (12 November 2026) produced:

Field	Value
Title	HEINEKEN Vietnam expands water conservation programme
Standfirst	HEINEKEN Vietnam has expanded its water conservation programme to support water security across five river basins.
Summary	HEINEKEN Vietnam is expanding its water conservation programme through 2030, aiming for 100% water balance at all five breweries nationwide.
SEO title	Water conservation programme expansion | HEINEKEN Vietnam (57 characters)
Subjects	Corporate, Sustainability (the Vietnam site's own items)
Date	8 September 2026
Body	Starts "Da Nang, 8 September 2026 – ...", both quotes verbatim, about 3,000 characters

Wording differs slightly between runs; facts, figures and quotes do not.

7. Showing the result

1. Click Open in Page builder in the agent's report. The page opens on the right site and version.
2. Show the headline, standfirst and body on the page.
3. Show the page's SEO and social fields (metadata title, description, keywords, Open Graph title and description) in the page's content fields: all filled, within their limits. Find where your Pages version shows them during the dry run.
4. Optional: open `/newsroom/2026` in Pages to show the story next to the site's existing news.
5. Close with: "The agent created a draft. An editor reviews it here and publishes through the normal process."

Never publish the demo pages. Neither site has a workflow, so a site publish would put them live. Scenario 1 is fictional.

8. Reset after the demo

Delete the pages the demo created so the next demo starts clean:

Site	Where	Page to delete
`heineken`	`/newsroom/2026`	The going-out study story (for example `cambodian-study-finds-changing-going-out-habits`)
`heineken-vietnam`	`/newsroom/2026`	The water programme story (for example `heineken-vietnam-expands-water-conservation-programme`)

Delete only these pages. Leave the year pages, the other stories (including the existing `New page` items) and everything else untouched.

If you skip the reset, the next run asks whether to update the existing page. Choosing Update it as a new version works, and is itself a good thing to demo once.

9. Troubleshooting

What happens	What to do
"The Marketer MCP is not available to this agent"	Agent → Tools & skills → turn Marketer MCP on, save, start a new chat

What happens	What to do
"This agent is misconfigured: the ... skill is not attached"	Agent → Tools & skills → attach the skill HEINEKEN Newsroom Story Writer, save, start a new chat
"The Brand Kit 'The HEINEKEN Company' is not published"	Publish the Brand Kit, start a new chat
"There is no year page for 2026 ..."	Create the News Year page `2026` under `/newsroom` on that site (copy the settings of 2025), then run again
The agent asks whether to update an existing page	A previous run left its page: choose Update it as a new version, or reset and start again
The attached file is not read	Open the Word file, copy all the text, and paste it after `Write a news story from this press release:`
The agent rejects an image	By design: placeholder images (names with `dummy` or `placeholder`) are refused. Choose no image
No Open in Page builder link	Open Pages → the site → `/newsroom/2026` → the new story
The conversation goes off track	Start a new chat and run the scenario again. Nothing is written before your final approval

10. Questions the audience may ask

Question	Answer
Does it publish?	Never. It creates or updates one draft page and stops.
Where do the facts come from?	Only from the release and the presenter's answers. It does no web research; web search is used only to read a URL the presenter gives. Missing information is reported as a gap.
Can it write in Vietnamese or other languages?	It reads any language and writes English. Local-language versions are a possible next step.
Can it add more markets?	Yes: each new market site is added to the agent's site settings (its newsroom, subject items and SEO suffix).
Can it use images?	Yes, when the editor names an approved image from the media library. It never generates or picks images on its own.
What else can it take as input?	Pasted text, a URL, or bullet-point notes. With short notes it writes a short story and never pads it.
